

More than a Commodity

As a farmer, you know that even though your products are traded as commodities, the effort that goes into producing them is anything but one. To get the job done right, it takes consistency, commitment, and effort every single day.

We know you're busy, so we put the same effort into developing and supporting our broad range of agricultural energy solutions. Whether you need off-road diesel for your equipment, propane for your grain dryers or electricity to run your facilities – we're ready to power every aspect of your farm's growth.

We'll handle the energy, so you can focus on the farm.

More Fuel

From off-road diesel, to heating oil and propane, if you need it on your farm, we can deliver it. Several grades and blends are available.

- Diesel (Off-Road and Highway)
- Gasoline
- Bio-Diesel, Low-Sulfur
- Propane
- Diesel Exhaust Fluid

More Energy

Not everything on your farm has an engine, for everything else we provide customized electricity and natural gas procurement solutions that can save you money.

- Natural Gas
- Electricity

More Peace-of-Mind

Worry-free service – Whether it is your tank or ours, Shipley Energy's tank monitoring service takes the worry out of reordering fuel. We'll remotely monitor the tank and automatically dispatch a truck when it's time to refuel. You don't have to lift a finger.

Pricing you can count on – In the farming industry, just about everything depends on something else. Volatile markets can quickly make or break a year, but our fixed pricing takes the guesswork out of fuel budgeting and provides you with a stable way to plan for the future.

Advice you can trust – Dedicated account representatives get to know your business and proactively monitor the market to make sure you're getting the best deal.

"They've become very attuned to our business in how we have to be served and what we need." -Dan Wolf, President of Wolf Farms
